the perfect foundation for a partnership

"A LITTLE BIT OF LOVELINESS"

What an appropriate name for stationery you might say...

"Lovely" is a word synonymous with the west coast of Scotland which is our home and where our story began. From day one it has been the initial reaction to our unique designs. Being at a wedding show and hearing a couple say "isn't that just lovely" was the perfect affirmation the name choice was the perfect fit and hearing it still gives us butterflies to this day.

Working with a client and listening to their ideas and vision then helping them bring it to life is our favourite part of our job. We work with our couples to create a relationship from the initial consultation so that you can trust us with the most important day of your life. Getting the chance to build our business and work together while making "Lovely" designs makes everyday exciting and different. In order to offer our bespoke service to each and every couple we take a limited number of bookings per year.

Our love of design is the reason we do what we do, and we hope this, and our pride for our lovely little business which we have created, shows throughout our work. If you need a beautiful invitation suite designed and printed with love, care and attention, you've come to the right place.

our easy and simple

ORDER PROCESS

Below is our full order process from start to finish.

We work in FIVE simple stages to keep things as easy for you as possible.

GET IN TOUCH

Start the process by emailing us or submitting a request through our website to receive a quotation or book a ZOOM consultation.

QUOTATION & BOOKING

Based on your requirements we provide you with your personalised wedding quotation via email. Once you have confirmed you are happy with the price and wish to proceed we then send you a copy of our contract which once signed has a link to pay the £75.00 non-refundable design fee.

(This cost covers our time for creating your design proposal and secures your date in our diary for design and production)

DESIGN PROCESS

Once you are booked in we will send you our information wording forms which is what we use to create your digital "Design Proposal"

This process includes three complimentary design revisions.

ASSEMBLY

Once you have approved your design full payment for that section of your order is required before anything is sent to print. After your payment is made no further design changes are possible to this section of your order. Your order is then placed with the printer within 24 hours of your payment being received.

Your order then arrives to us within 5-7 working days, once it arrives with us it is then thoroughly checked and then put into assembly production within our home studio. The assembly process can then take 3-4 weeks to complete depending on the size and complexity of the order.

DELIVERY

Once your order is complete it is then sent via DPD Local. You will receive text updates from the courier to allow you to track your order's journey from leaving our studio to arriving with you.

If you are local, collections are available upon request. However, as we are a home studio this option is only available at certain times - please enquire about this option at the consultation stage.

recommended timeline

WHERE DO YOU START?

No matter what stage you're at with your wedding stationery whether it's at the very beginning of the process or if you've already sent out your save the dates and invites and looking for on the day stationery we'd love to hear from you!

Even if you don't have all the details at this stage, we're happy to book you into the diary to secure your design space for whenever you're ready to get started.

We recommend the following timescales when it comes to sending out your wedding stationery. We have found working with many of our clients that this is a realistic timeline to follow to make sure everything falls into place perfectly!

It helps you be organised in plenty of time and gives us the perfect amount of time to design.
